Introducing Lucca, a multipurpose piece that easily transitions from indoors to outside.

Defined by an elegant, soft shape and dark curving lines around the base and handle, Lucca is a portable and dimmable lamp that produces a welcoming, homey ambience and can fit any space and purpose - be it indoors, or out.

The lamp's outer shell, built out of satinised opal glass, diffuses the light into a soft and warming glow, and on the base, a discreet dimmer allows for three different settings to match lighting to mood. Powered by a battery, the lamp operates for 12 hours at the highest setting and is easily recharged with a USB cable, meaning that it can be carried around the home for some added ambience, or taken outdoors during warmer evenings.

Behind the design are Space Copenhagen founders Signe Bindslev Henriksen and Peter Bundgaard Rützou, who found inspiration in cities and towns across the Mediterranean. They were fascinated by the distinct golden glow that illuminates the narrow, winding roads of picturesque coastal towns and of quaint countryside villages at night, and wanted to recreate that same dreamy atmosphere through an elegant, portable lamp.

“Our Lucca lamp is a simple yet elegant lamp that was inspired by the intriguing atmosphere we experienced in the Mediterranean,” notes Henriksen. “Use it both as a classic lamp or as a substitute for candlelight – in the house, the garden, or the terrace.”

The designers named the piece after the historic northern Tuscan city of Lucca, a word that resembles the Italian term for “light”: luce.

Founded in 2005, Space Copenhagen works across multiple disciplines, from furniture and lighting to art installations and interior design. Their intuitive approach, coupled with a belief in slow aesthetic, results in contemporary designs with timeless appeal.

&Tradition is a Danish design company established in 2010 with the founding principle being tradition tied to innovation. Our unique portfolio of furniture and lighting spans from the 1920s to the present day and includes designs by internationally renowned designers.
